When circumstances prevail indicating it appears safe, from a health and welfare viewpoint and rules as dictated by the regulatory health authorities under Covid-19 compliance are observed; Appraiser Canada Inc. (AIC the appraiser/representative) will enter the property under the following conditions:

- ① Interior access is provided by the occupant, by contactless means or as otherwise arranged.
- ② Interior doors to each and every area, room, closet or office in the property is left unsecured and open.
- ③ The AIC representative will wear appropriate PPE safeguards, for the safety and protection of the occupant and the AIC representative.

N.B:

- ① It is noted any area to which access cannot be gained resulting from the occupant not complying with the request, to allow access to all areas, therefore, will not be observed/inspected by the ACI representative (Rep). (ACI Rep. will not open interior doors).
- ② The denial of the AIC Rep. to perform a complete and thorough observation/inspection will result in an Extraordinary Limiting Condition (ELC) in any report prepared.
- ③ The ELC referenced herein has the potential to effect decisions made by the client of the report. When the intended use of a report is for an advance of monetary funds of any description, the client may not accept the report.
- ④ ACI and its Rep. are hereby absolved from liability of any nature resulting from the decisions made by the client as a result of the occupants denial of access.

All information is private and confidential and will not be used or shared and only to inform you should there be a need or any concerns regarding your inspection.
